

Carequality Network Opt-Out

We participate in Carequality, a nationwide health information exchange (HIE), which allows doctors, nurses, pharmacists, and other health care providers to securely share an individual's medical information electronically. The purpose of the HIE is to improve patient care by making sure doctors, hospitals and other health care providers have a complete and recent picture of your health when and where it is needed for your treatment or care. Other providers participating in the HIE may have access to this information as part of your care. You have the right to ask that your medical information not be disclosed to or shared by the HIE. Your choice to opt-out of the HIE will not affect your ability to access medical care.
